

Livingston Wells Upgrade

The Livingston Township Water Pollution Control Facility is responsible for treating almost all sewage generated by the Township of Livingston, NJ. This project included upgrades to four well stations and a treatment building. The scope of work also included replacing three motor control centers and a new SCADA System for three of the facilities. Fiber optic cables were installed to communicate between two of the buildings.

Market:

Power, Utility & Industrial

Date:

2014

Location:

Livingston, NJ